We use test automation to achieve some benefits, such as:

-Faster feedback loop and quicker time to market

-Increased coverage and reduced testing fatigue

-Faster bug discovery and improved risk mitigation

-More efficient software and app testing

-Better manual testing by freeing up testers time

We need test automation when we want to save time, achieve deliverables faster, and improve software quality